I honestly don't think MS is trying to "hurt" anyone.....they are making their O/S simpler and easier to use for everyone.....isn't that what the people are asking for???? There is no competition for them directly because everything they have is just that much better! Now AOL/Netscape want to sue them.....why???? Because of the Netscape browser which just couldn/can't compete???? Then there's Linux.....well, let me tell you a fact.....Linux never was, and never will be competition to Windows.....it's a "Geek" O/S and that's all it ever will be!
Don't punish MS because they are successfull.....isn't that the whole point of living in America?????????

Thanx;
